

MISSISSIPPI SPORTS LAW REVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE

William L. Pomeroy

In its sixth publication year, the MISSISSIPPI SPORTS LAW REVIEW, has continued to build on the past successes by maintaining the unique status as the only SEC school with a Sports Law Review. The REVIEW has continued to accomplish its goals of building a renowned sports law publication through the diligent editing, writing, and selection of novel pieces by its members and supporters. The REVIEW's annual symposium has benefited, the University of Mississippi School of Law, Ole Miss students, and to the citizens of the state spread across eighty-two counties, by providing a forum in which modern and relevant sports topics may be discussed on record with leaders of the sports industry throughout the country.

The REVIEW owes much of its continued success to Professor William W. Berry III, our most ardent supporter and faculty advisor, and Professor Ron Rychlak, a highly engaged and influential faculty member who provides much needed guidance. Most importantly, I would like to thank specific REVIEW executive board members, including Spencer Durden, the Executive Editor who worked countless hours ensuring all edits were completed on time, Brantley Adams, Business Editor who ensured all the funding, accounts, and bills were managed, Evan Brewster, Senior Online Editor who assisted in organizing the symposium and reviewing articles and Jack Noonan, incoming Editor-in-Chief, who was a tremendous asset in setting up the symposium.

It's worth noting again that I would like to thank Professor William Berry for all that has done and continues to do for our publication. He has assisted the REVIEW since its very first days and has always made himself available to advise the staff.

To the members of the REVIEW, past, present, and future, our faculty and staff, and our readers thank you again for your continued dedication. I am thankful for the opportunity to serve as the REVIEW's sixth Editor-in-Chief.